Sellers, Mr. Holmes and myself of the vault erected in your new building, I am of the opinion that, in point of design, construction, protection against burglary and privacy to safe renters, you and your directors have occasion for congratulation, as I have the personal assurance of MACNEALE & URBAN, who built your vault, that its construction is of the highest type known to the art of safe building. Its admirable location in your office makes it easy of access to your patrons (a feature you have done well to consider), and being fitted up with the level vestibule, in addition to the massive, as well as the ornsmental grills and guards, it unquestionably affords every convenience and safeguard your box renters and your company could desire.

Yours very truly, G. S. CLARK. Superintendent of Vaults. We can rent you Safe Deposit Boxes in this unsurpassed vault at $5, $7.50, $10, $15, $25, $35 and $50 per year, according to size. To THE MARRIED.

A few months ago a Washington young man of brilliant ability and sterling character was lesirous of buying a life insurance policy in the Equitable. On account, however, of his imited salary and good health his wife persuaded him not to do so. Recently he sickened and died, leaving little property and no maurance. Gladly would the widow now receive the sum for which her husband wished to insure his life, and which would now be hers had he done so. Is there a lesson here for you?
